Dear Ms. S. Lee,

I recently saw your advert for a Java Developer on Mycompany.com (link here), and I'm eager to apply for the position. I am a recognized Java expert who has a track record of being able to deal with the toughest of technical problems. My career ambition has always been to firstly take technology to its limits, and secondly to work with people who are the best in their respective fields.

At the moment I'm working as a Java Consultant for Stark IT Solutions, where I am involved in developing web-based user-friendly interfaces that meet customer and client requirements. Apart from writing amazing code, my other duties include mentoring Junior Developers and making it easy for others to use applications. One of my key achievements to date has been to build a stable, efficient and scalable cloud-based solution that has been deployed globally.

I saw that you're looking for a Tech Talent that could take part in software and architectural development activities, and I'm glad to say that at Stark IT Solutions I'm also responsible for that, working with the entire development lifecycle and delivering a reliable and effective product.

My professional and personal development is a major priority in my life, and this is why I am committed to learning new technologies, like Java JDK 10 that I think can really help Mycompany.com with new APIs to better enable the creation of unmodifiable collections. I have a strong desire to work with the latest tools and researching about your company, I saw that this is something that you guys encourage us to do, so it's the perfect opportunity for me at this moment of my career.

I am keen to work for your company as it has a reputation for giving its staff the freedom and personal responsibility to change and improve processes. I would love an opportunity to share with you more about me in an interview, so please feel free to contact me regarding one.

Thank you very much for taking the time to review my application.

Yours sincerely,

Geraldo Ribeiro
